Environmental Pollution

The environment is very necessary to lead a healthy life. Our environment shapes a very important aspect of human life because that is where we find the requirements of life like air, water and food. Due to global industrialization and modernization. There has been environmental pollution. Our life style has also changed. The animals are on the verge of extinct day by day. The panda, the white tiger, albatross are now not to be seen. They are few only and if environmental pollution continues then we are going to lose our animals in a few decades. The harmful and toxic gases which release 24x7 from the factories are mixing with air, thus causing air pollution people dump all the waste materials in the river and sea. This way the water is also getting poisoned every day. The marine species like fish, whales and dolphins are the worst sufferers. Their valuable lives are also lost. Soil erosion is one of the causes of soil pollution. We humans can save our Earth by planting trees. If we plant trees then once again our earth will be green. We should not cut trees also then it will make deforestation and the top portion of the soil we be lost.
